Who we are...

The Lord Fairfax House was established in 1976 by the Council On Alcoholism, Lord Fairfax Community, Inc. We moved to 512 South Braddock Street in August, 1984—opening the first licensed co-ed transitional housing.

Our halfway house is neither a rescue mission nor merely a “hotel”. It is a continuation of a client’s treatment program-providing a home where they can once again begin to enjoy a life free of chemicals.

What we are...

The Lord Fairfax House is an alcohol/drug free environment with backgrounds in substance abuse services. Some are, themselves, recovering alcoholics/drug addicts.

The Lord Fairfax House is a non-profit system of residential halfway housing for men and women recovering from substance abuse. We offer a supportive environment that is conducive to self-acceptance, self-help, respect by and for others, and increased participation in the community.

What we offer...

The primary purpose of the halfway house program is to help recovering individuals learn to live in society without drugs or alcohol. Our approaches include individual and group sessions, recreational activities, AA/NA meetings. Our community meetings are designed to meet the specific needs of each resident. All house activities are scheduled and include daily attendance of AA/NA meetings.

What we expect...

The Lord Fairfax House offers its programs to persons over the age of 18 whose primary addiction is to alcohol/drugs. When persons move into the house, they sign an agreement thereby recognizing their own responsibilities as well as ours. Our clients must be chemical free and have successfully completed an alcohol/drug rehabilitation program or be otherwise qualified by the Executive Director at the time of admission. Alcohol and other mind altering drugs are forbidden in the house or on the grounds.

Clients are expected to begin to recognize their disease and the need to change their addictive life-styles. Using a semi-structured environment as a transitional stage, clients are expected to attempt to begin to rebuild the practical areas of their lives, while renewing a sense of security and self-worth.
